|----|--|

Daniel Collins tested positive for marijuana on April 8, 2014.

Compliance with Supervision Conditions and Prior Interventions:

Daniel Collins was released to supervision on September 11, 2013. He was diagnosed with bipolar disorder with severe depression prior to incarceration for the instant offense. Mr. Collins tested positive for marijuana on December 3, 2013. This violation was reported to the Court on January 10, 2014, with a request that Mr. Collins be referred for treatment and that no additional action be taken. The Court granted this request on January 14, 2014. Mr. Collins was admonished for his actions, and he indicated his willingness to participate in treatment. An assessment was completed at Centerstone on April 1, 2014, and the therapist recommended that he receive individual counseling sessions twice per month to address both substance abuse and mental health issues. Mr. Collins has been referred for treatment as recommended. Mr. Collins did not admit to using marijuana to the probation officer prior to testing positive on April 8, 2014. He is currently unemployed and resides in Charlotte, Tennessee.

U.S. Probation Officer Recommendation:

The U.S. Probation Office is not requesting that any action be taken at this time. Mr. Collins will be required to submit to a substance abuse and mental health treatment as recommended. Random urine screens will also continue.

This case has been discussed with Assistant U.S. Attorney Trey Hester, who agrees with the probation officer's recommendation.
